

The Ride

Calexico

Beneath the neon hub of downtown
The local hotel ghosts blow back around
Descend on those drugstore cowboy nights

Cling to the bar, then disappear from sight

Back to the daily regime
Where the late night graveyard shift dampens your dreams
Bitten by the desire and the spell

That leaves you stranded out On the other side of town