

Memorial

Caliban

This is a memorial, to honor the long gone
This is a burial, my heaven has gone wrong

Those times we had, so long ago. Like yesterday I miss 'em so much
I can't let go!
My heart is full of hate, It's bleeding love
Father I have to say goodbye, to keep myself alive

I can still see you, you're fading away.
But I can still feel you though you're drifting away from me.

This is a memorial, to honor the long gone
This is a burial, my heaven has gone wrong
Are you still here? Still in this place?
What's left behind, where is God's grace?
You broke my faith
My heart is full of hate. It's bleeding love.
Father I have to say goodbye to keep my self alive
I can still see you, you're fading away ? but I can still feel you, though you're drifting away from me.
My heart is aching, that's all I know
Hope is fading I'll let you go
This is a memorial, this is a burial
