The Miller's Tale

And the two friends went home. No need for words, they are as one. And now summer's over, The light on the fields grows older.

Camel