

Heaven

Camouflage

When I look into your eyes, then I know that life's worth living, just without you
More or less, there's nothing left to tell.

All the years we shared our time, all the things we had in common,
all the crisis
More or less we've nothing left to tell.

All excuses, all your plights, all your nice ideas, effusions of your mind,
but I'll tell you for a thousand times:

R: I want you going down just for one time.

I want you going down, going down to the place where you belong to

When I woke up in your arms, and I felt myself, I'm freezing, that's unusual
More or less, there's nothing left to lose.

All excuses, all your plights, all your nice ideas, effusions of your mind,
but I'll tell you for a thousand times:

R: