

Melting Away

Can

Day upon day has melted away,
The stars of the past have given Tuesday,
The heart of the matter has been with the sun
And the melted up song has gone, everyone.

Mercury after night has passed away,
The light of the day has melted to stay
And time has gone by as the mercury sings
And the light of the plaster goes far from grace.

Giving the light that brings forth the heart
And giving the light that brings forth the heart
And night of the mind has run forth the dark,
The dark brings God everything, the time, the time.
