Hopeless

Cancerslug

There is no end to my love with life closing in everyone that I have known was so full of shit I have wasted countless seasons feeling insecure its taken all my feelings leaving me with nothing unperverse no hope for me my heart will forever bleed grind me up take my senses peel them away I dont want to remember yesterday I feel I have been raked over one too many coals you better watch your step I just might lose all of my control