Genabis

Canibus

This is Genabis, Remember this

In the beginning I discovered wordplay I experimented with some syllables from the first to the third day On the fourth I searched for the words to say How to compress complex verbiage in the least amount of space I was perfect at it and mastered the tactic's On the fifth day I decided I would combine it with mathematics On the sixth day I became a fanatic and I couldn't kick the habit I would just look in the mirror and practice On the seventh cycle, I had to take the day off I was exhausted I guessed my work will never pay off But if it happened it to him, it could happen to me And if it happened to me, it was destined to be

Yo, Genabis, Exobus, Levitibus There ain't a mic on this planet I'm restricted to touch I read the cosmo's but God wrote predicted as much The inhabitants lack faith but resistance is tough (2x)

They backslide back to church and call a minister's bluff They rather remain unenlightened then listen to Bus I blew the fuck up, even though it was short and abrupt I was the first rapper to ever to close orbit the sun One small step for man, one huge step for mankind ... I am the red giant of rhymes Solar deflectors, incinerate you whole in a second Flow is untested those that I've threatened fold under pressure At 120 Beta cycles, high volts ignite your eyeballs Until you see the fire in front of you Optic cone rods, melt one at a time till you realize you in hell Rip the Jacker's not done with you I terrorize the rap community with impunity Blow you to pieces and move elusively thru the debris What my enemies want to do to me is old news to me Those that pursue to me will never get thru to me
