Eaten from Inside

Cannibal Corpse

Dwelling inside was an anger An anger that grew into hatred Grinding, churning inside of me Seeking, finding the need to feed On my soul, it now appears I've lost control Of my mind, it's now begun to tear and grind The pain, its destination my brain Can't hide from being eaten from inside - inside

Originating deep within, a heart that is now cold and dead Tearing its way through my organs, leaving nothing but shreds Ripping, tissue is torn away Severing, parts and veins in the way My insides are on the outside of me My bones now shatter and explode The pain, its destination my brain Can't hide from beign eaten from inside

Left on the ground is my head, waiting for the final blow Brain violently corroding, the end won't come fast only slow Seeing what's left of my body Drowning, blood is surrounding me My skull melts revealing my brain Exploding, my body's imploding The pain, its destination my brain I've died, I've been eaten from inside