

Keeping Up Appearances

Capdown

Just cos you're not the centre of attention
It doesn't mean that you'll be alone
Self reflection is an asset not a let down
So forgot those doubts

I'm tired of having to look good
Pretend that we feel good
Never let it show that we could
Be anything less than completely obsessed
With the contents of our wallets and the way that we're dressed
Some people are living lies now
Rather than facing the truth some people getting high now.

Keeping up appearances
I'm never able to let go
Yet I call myself a friend
You say you do but you don't know
You still feel you have to pretend
I'm never able to let go
So how can I be a friend
We say we do but we don't know
Cos we always have to pretend
