You left me here alone with a shine
Our hearts were strong but I couldn't find
My world alone how could I break my home
Still I doubted you and still your strength
Enchanted me you was the father to my child
And a man to me now I'm sung of strong hearts
Run free run free young hearts
Young hearts run free
Run free young hearts

Girlfriend, what you did was wrong Even though the love was strong, you moved on Never had faith in the Don, you was safe With the Don, and then you walked out A broken house, a broken heart Cry for my dart, we had a plan We was woman and man, the hourglass Held the sand, I held you like contraband But you didn't understand when the four devils Came inside of your life that night We argued and fight, you knew it wasn't right Fucked up our life, my thoughts come stronger Every ounce, it's not my fault That you wanted to bounce, now you tellin' me That you cleaned up your act, beep me every time But I never call back, that's how I felt When you was makin' me crack Me leave wifey for you?? I'm crying I'm crying

Our hearts were strong but I couldn't find
My world alone how could I break my home
Still I doubted you and still your strength
Enchanted me you was the father to my child
And a man to me now I'm sung of strong hearts
Run free run free young hearts
Young hearts run free
Run free young hearts

Young hearts, run free Run free, young hearts Young hearts, run free
