

I Remember You

Captain Tractor

It's raining again in Vancouver, I haven't seen the sun in seven days
I'm sitting here in Kitsilano waiting for a chance to play
I heard your name at a party two years after you said goodbye
I looked around the room to see you but I couldn't find your eyes
The mountains are high and the praries are wide
Some things get lost along the side
But I remember you
In all those places you once knew
I remember everything about you
It's freezing again in Winnipeg, the wind's blowing straight out of hell
I thought I'd write you this postcard and wish your Christmas well
You know this life just keeps me laughing and here's the funniest part
The one thing that kept us together is finally keeping us apart
And it breaks my heart
The mountains are high and the praries are wide
I could see it reflected in your eyes
But I remember you
And all the things you used to do
I remember everything about you
It stinks again in Toronto, can't see the top of the CN Tower
I'm broke and bored and lonely as hell and every beer tastes sour
But I wouldn't change one single thing and you knew that's the way it would be
So if you're at the Track tonight have a drink on me
Maybe make it three
The mountains are high and the praries are wide
The price is never worth the ride
But I remember you
Just like it was all brand new
I remember everything about you
The mountains are high and the praries are wide
If life's a bitch it's time to die
But I remember you
Just like it was all brand new
Yeah I remember everything
Every single stupid thing
I remember everything about you
