

In Anger

Cardiant

Why I thought I had it all and why I wanted more Could it be just there for while, the while I need for myself

Never dared to seal my door
Never dared to look behind Once again I was
As fool as I can be

Anger takes my mind at will
The will I never could lead Feel this anxious rise
Got no chance to be myself

Maybe somewhere I'll find the place where I can just be Let me allow this dawn
Before we'll follow that star

I'm making my command on this hazy unknown ground

(The) Pain and the anger is gone
I know my life is worth of this run
I won't again put myself to burn my Candle at both ends
Once we will break our time
And that shine in your eyes will be my guide Looking into the stars made me blindly believe in the truth of the lighting star

It may be hard to tell in advance
For now we assume and wait the forgotten chance