

Heartbreak Tonight

Caroline Herring

Different and good
Easy to please
A cheerleader's skirt on the backseat
A childhood worth forgetting
Her twenties damn depressing
She eyes another age
She turns another page

You change your name
You don't stay the same
So it's heartbreak tonight
And tomorrow's new beginnings
It's supper on the stove
And a gambler's winnings

Raised on the farm
Raised on Enjoli
Raised on je ne sais pas
And some joie de vivre
Now for the first time
The end is in sight
You give me your traditions
I'll hand off my ambitions
'Cause it feels so right

You change your name
You don't stay the same
So it's heartbreak tonight
And tomorrow's new beginnings
It's supper on the stove
And a gambler's winnings

It was when you forgot
To feel like a fool
Or notice if they were watching you
Looking so good
In front of that mirror
But living in the back room
You begin to disappear

You change your name
You don't stay the same
So it's heartbreak tonight
And tomorrow's new beginnings
It's supper on the stove
And a gambler's winnings
Her winnings
