True Star

Caroline's Spine

When I look at the sky, It all gets so heavy And the reason why Is an endless journey

And sometimes it just Seems so far away Then I look in your eye And I find a place

It seems as vast as outer space And I find myself with One thing left to say That you are my only true star

Shine with all your might Guide me through this lonely night And I want whatever you want And after all we've said

And we've done
Maybe, I think,
It's time you came with me
Sometimes when I wake up

I feel so heavy
And getting off the floor
Can be such a journey
Until I remember why we ran away

Then I pretend
To see your face
And I strike up interesting conversation
To steal your heart

When you find me in your doorway You are my only true star Shine with all your might Guide me through

This lonely night
And I want whatever you want
And after all we've said and we've done
Maybe, I think,

It's time you came with me
Then I remember why we ran away
Then I remember why we ran away
Then I remember why we had to run

Because you are my only true star Shine with all your might Guide me through This lonely night

And I want whatever you want And after all

We've said and we've done Maybe, I think,

It's time you came with me
