

You Wonder Why I'm Gone

Carolyn Dawn Johnson

You left a message on my phone
You knew I wouldn't be home
You say it's love you want to save
Baby you're so brave
But the days have gone by
And I've had a lot of time to cry
And think about those words
I can't forget I heard
You say it's all my fault
And I pushed the final button
I guess that gives you the right
To say whatever you want while I say nothing
And you keep going on and on
Pointing fingers at everything I do wrong
And you wonder why I'm gone?

After the damage has been done
You tell me that I'm the only one
Well baby I'm confused can't take anymore abuse
You say it's all my fault
And I pushed the final button
I guess that gives you the right
To say whatever you want while I say nothing
And you keep going on and on
Pointing fingers at everything I do wrong
And you wonder why I'm gone?

How dare you say it hurts
To hear the silence now that we're apart?
You should've thought about that
When you heard the sound of my breaking heart

You say it's all my fault
And I pushed the final button
I guess that gives you the right
To say whatever you want while I say nothing
And you keep going on and on
Pointing fingers at everything I do wrong
And you wonder why I'm gone?
I'm gone...
