

I'm contemplating on too much
There's no more time for second chances
Terminate the mind, awaken my third eye
I've been reflection on a lot
Don't waste your time trying to control me
Retrograde the sky, awaken from inside

Dynamite candlelight brigade
It's not my first time playing these charades
Dynamite rebel renegade
This is the price we pay to play the game

How can you fight for something when you stand for nothing?
Why can't you throw it away and start over again?
You don't have to deal the cards you're handed
It's getting harder to explain and I can't stand it

I'll see you later and good luck
You'll never keep my attention
Retrograde this life, eliminate my strife
Disconnect me from this web
I'm getting great at disappearing
Terminate my mind, I'll never be alright
