Getting up, running out
This constant pace has me on overload
I wanna be in a place where the window's open and my mind can roam

All I think about is how much I'm uncertain and Now I'm staring down the man behind the curtain

I'm so numb to the things I love
Where did my heart go wrong

I've been sleeping with my headphones
Driving with my eyes closed
A thousand miles left to go
I think I'll have to make due if I don't catch a break soon
I don't even wanna know

Waking up, baking up
My mind is shifting into overdrive
I'ma be in a place where I'm contending for the title fight
All I wanna know is how to break the surface
I'm all worn out and searching for a purpose

I'm so numb to the things I love
Where did my heart go wrong

I've been sleeping with my headphones
Driving with my eyes closed
I think I'll have to make due if I don't catch a break soon
I don't even wanna know
I don't want my life to feel this way anymore
I've been sleeping with my headphones
Driving with my eyes closed
All along alone
