

Rest

Carpark North

Breathe
Breathe
Breathe
Breathe

Breathe
Breathe
Breathe
Breathe

You really need to breathe again
Just get that air inside and breathe again
It wasn't my intention to leave you there

I really dream about having a life
Out in the world with you in the blue city lights
It wasn't my intention to hurt you there

(So right)
If I say I'm sorry
(So wrong)
Would it matter anything to you
Anything to you
And if I say I'm sorry
Would it shatter every part of you
Burn every inch of you

See how her walls crumble and burn
See the corners shatter and turn
It wasn't my intention to kill you there

(So right)
If I say I'm sorry
(So wrong)
Would it matter anything to you
Anything to you
And if I say I'm sorry
Would it shatter every part of you
Burn every inch of you

(So right)
If I say I'm sorry
(So wrong)
Would it matter anything to you
Anything to you
And if I say I'm sorry
Would it shatter every part of you
Burn every inch

Breathe, breathe, breathe, breathe, breathe.