

All of My Life

Carpenters

All of my life I have been waiting for just one boy
And all of my life I have been waiting for all the joy
Of having someone that I can call my own
Who'll come to my side when I am all alone

And now you are here and I've found a whole new world has opened for me
A world filled with joy, a world filled with all your love eternally

For you say you're mine, you'll love me all the time
Night and day, come what may
And all of my life you will be my own

I just want someone that I can call my own
Who'll come to my side when I am all alone
And now you are here and I've found a whole new world has opened for me
A world filled with joy, a world filled with all your love eternally

For you say you're mine and you'll love me all the time
Night and day, come what may
And all of my life you will be my own
You will be my own
