

Red Lights

Catafalque

You! The woman wandering under the red lights
The sidewalks of these streets are used to your high heels Are you truly in myself
or am I your other half

You! The woman crying and hiding in darkness Though there is a lot loving you, why this weariness
Are you truly in myself
or am I your other half

You must believe in me
You must believe in you
It is me in the clouds that are around you You're not alone! I'm alone!
You are stolen from me
My heart is stolen by you I'll never forget about you You are not alone! I'm alone!

You! The woman embroidering and writing pain on my core My silver... my blade...
You are to die for
Are you truly in myself
otherwise I'm your other half

You can't deny the emptiness in your heart Temptation in your past You're made for love by my God and I am for you!