

Mirrorized Thoughts

Catamenia

Leaves are fallen, times have passed by, pitch black moon stares
s from the sky
Coldness emerge with the night, im wandering in dreamland of my own mind

A silent, fading whispers haunts me
Am i dreaming again or is it there

Mirrored light blinding my eyes, can`t feel anything real, cant compromise
I feel nothing, sometimes i wish i was still unborn child

All these visions, all i have done, nothing makes sense anymore
i must been paralyzed
All these visions, all i have done, nothing makes sense anymore
, everything is gone

Darkness i feel, these shades with me Broken fears, what is this dream
Is it my mind, making sensless cry Give me a sign, to leave this pathetic life

A silent, fading whispers haunts me
Am i dreaming again or is it there

Leaves are fallen, times have passed by, pitch black moon stare
s from the sky
Coldness emerge with the night, im wandering in dreamland of my
own mind
Slightly im beginning to remember my past life, so distant in m y mind
So clearly i can see those times, fading away from this souls e ntwine

All these visions, all i have done, nothing makes sense anymore
i must been paralyzed
All these visions, all i have done, nothing makes sense anymore
, everything is gone All these visions, all i have done, nothin g makes sense anymore, everything is gone