

Come Into Your Own

Cave In

Burning daylight speeds up midnight
I love a blessing in disguise
Saw you crying I wasn't sure
If you were just wringing out your eyes
A spell is cast upon your mode
Listen, and you will find
A necklace made from beads of sweat
Dripping from your mind
Round and round just like the heads
Rolling past your feet
With everything in constant swing
From left to right, from may to might
Come into your own
No, you're not alone
Everything is out of tune
When she's in perfect harmony
Introduce me to monogamy
Shared spring fever is a bore
Come into your own
Come into your own
And know you're not alone