

Cynical

Cavo

Show me a lie and I'll show you a vein
Open your heart and I'll do the same
Tear it apart and blow it away
You're caught in the eye of a hurricane
The only words you need to find
The only dreams you leave behind
Every night it's the same old masquerade

The love the lie that leads you someday
The love the lie that leads you someday
You're so cynical You're so cynical
You need to find a way to let go

Show me a lie and I'll show you a vein
Open your heart and I'll do the same
Tear it apart and blow it away
You're caught in the eye of a hurricane
All the lies we live to tonight
Always find their way inside
Every night it's the same old masquerade

The love the lie that leads you someday
The love the lie that leads you someday
You're so cynical You're so cynical
You need to find a way to let go
Oh the dreams will never die

The love the lie that leads you someday
The love the lie that leads you someday
You're so cynical You're so cynical
You need to find a way to let go

The love the lie that leads you someday
The love the lie that leads you someday
You're so cynical You're so cynical
You need to find a way to let go
