

In A Moment

Cavo

Wake up
you never took so long you've never been so right to see through all their smiles your stone, you've never been let down and no one comes around to see with in your light say no more

just wait in a moment I'll be gone with the weight you've held so long in the morning I'll be gone can you find your way back so real you never took the time you never made things right and nothing satisfies in you mind it's never quite the same you feel but share no pain through all you wasted miles

say no more
just wait in a moment I'll be gone
with the weight you've held so long
in the morning I'll be gone
can you find your way back
can you find your way back home again
in the morning I'll be gone again
say no more
just wait in a moment I'll be gone
with the weight you've held so long
in the morning I'll be gone
can you find your way back
home again
home again
home again