

On Your Own

Cavo

Turn down the silence
And just say what you mean
Some words unspoken
Are just falling between
And now that you're leaving
Well, it's calling me home
You say that's a feeling
That nobody knows

No, you won't get far on your own
No, you won't get far all alone
So come on home

If time is a healer
Turns water to wine
Changing your feelings
Like you're changing your mind
I know you've got a reason
That it's better off gone
But someday you'll need it
When it matters the most
And I know the light won't burn long

No, you won't get far on your own
No, you won't get far all alone
All these lonely lines
Slowly follow me home
No, you won't get far on your own
So come on home

No, you won't get far on your own
No, you won't get far all alone
So come on home
Come on home
