

A Thousand Walls

Celeste Buckingham

Please don't pretend you miss me
I know I'm done forgiving
You made me think that I was the only one for you But then you got too greedy Broke hearts then said you'd leave me
I used to think my world was built for two Was it worth it after all?
And all this time
You and I
Never lived like love was still alive
Although we tried
you built a life
of a thousand walls between your heart and mine
These scars won't last forever for worse or for better
But I won't let them keep me from all I need Soon as my faith was broken my eyes flew wide open to see you never lived up to all my dreams
It wasn't worth it now I know
And all this time
You and I
Never lived like love was still alive
Although we tried
you built a life
of a thousand walls between your heart and mine
What's ahead of me I'll never know I'll never know
This hope has set me free so I'll let you go I'll let you go
And all this time
You and I
Never lived like love was still alive
Although we tried
you built a life
of a thousand walls between your heart and mine
