

Who I've Always Been

Celeste Buckingham

No room for failures,
no time for faults,
that's what you tell me,
but I know you're wrong.

You say I won't make it if I don't play along.
I refuse to fake it,
i know where I belong.

And every time i sing this song
I'll be thinking of you.

Cause I just wanna steal
the words from your mouth now,
you're on your own,
you're on your own.

Putting me down won't
get what you want cause
you're on your own,
you're on your own.

You can try to brake,
but you'll never change,
who i've always been.

You said you've found perfection, in what you see yeah.
But you've stopping perfecting, what's underneath.

And your heart is screaming for a chance to get through.
So everytime I sing this song
I'll be thinking of you.

Cause I just wanna steal
the words from your mouth now,
you're on your own,
you're on your own.

Putting me down won't
get what you want cause
you're on your own,
you're on your own.

You can try to brake,
but you'll never change,
who i've always been.

Cause love for what I'm not don't mean a thing.
But love for what I've got is all i need.

I just wanna steal

the words from your mouth now,
you're on your own,
you're on your own.

No you won't get what you want cause you're on your own.

Cause I just wanna steal
the words from your mouth now,
you're on your own,
you're on your own.

Putting me down won't
get what you want cause
you're on your own,
you're on your own.

You can try to brake,
but you'll never change,
You can try to brake,
but you'll never change,
who i've always been.