

Golden Lullaby

Cemetery of Scream

The autumn's fairy is missing
Now with the distant morning dewdrops of the first corroded sound
Around the well of wishes
Like sentries are the dusk fireflies, a swarm of charms

The spore meets the unliving
As the solar wanderer falters and falls before the moon
The hair of woods on fire
Soil murmurs golden lullabies, the full circle of all life!

Forever can't be better

The blindfolded eyes of hours
Each drop of sand deludes the mind, water's on our side Dim solace in aging wine Ghost in my cigarette, please dance for me, come and flirt with me

Communion time in amber
For every beehive chamber searching for what's the soul in me
The hair of woods on fire
Soil murmurs golden lullabies, the full circle of all
life!

Forever can't be better

My golden lullaby
