Look Up

When the limbs have all been shaken 'til there's no more fruit to bear When the tiger's barely up to feed the sleepers at the wheel When you run out pretending and there's nowhere left to run But you keep running, running, running, running, running Look up, hey And I heard we'll meet our end on bridges built across the sky But when you say it, I believe you, and it almost sounds alrigh t Tell the losers, tell the winners, the same ship will bear us a 11 But all I want is to want nothing, nothing, nothing, nothing Look up, hey Look up, hey
