

Hold on

Charlie Simpson

Hold on, don't spit me out
I have never held you so tight
Run, run, please close your eyes
I have never seen you so tired

Are we just like them? Are we just like them?
I've pushed, pushed you so far
It's the only way I know how
Maybe you, maybe you should know

That I've lost you, I've lost you
That I've lost you now, I've lost you

Can you hear the choir sing?
We never made it to the old town, my God
We never made it very far away from here

Days go by without words
Is it 'cause you don't want me around?
Just make up, make up your mind
'Cause sometimes it hurts to be kind
Maybe you, maybe you should know

That I've lost you, I've lost you
That I've lost you now, I've lost you

Can you hear the choir sing?
We never made it to the old town, my God
We never made it very far away from here

Can you hear the choir sing?
We never made it to the old town
We never made it very far away

Well, can you hear the sirens sound?
We only wanted to get messed up 'round here
We only wanted to be sure that we would fall

Can you hear the choir sing?
We never made it to the old town, my God
We never made it very far away from here
