Suburbs

Charlie Simpson

I met you in the summer I was taking off You couldn't call me out, you wouldn't notice me You're somewhere I know, you're calling me But should I ever listen to you, do you need me?

'Cause I need you now, I need you now
I need you now
Somehow Eleanor, I know that you are watching me
From somewhere yet I don't know where you are anymore

I met you in the suburbs, I was seventeen You couldn't save me then so how can you help me now? You're somewhere I know, you're calling me But should I ever listen to you, do you need me?

'Cause I need you now, I need you now
I need you now
Somehow Eleanor, I know that you are watching me
From somewhere yet I don't know where you are anymore

Somehow Eleanor, I know that you are watching me From somewhere yet I don't know where you are anymore
