Thru It All

Charlie Wilson

Not one to have a loss for words What I have to say you've already heard But I don't think it will hurt to hear it again Years have passed and your kisses feel Even better now, soothing my heart still How my passion fills just knowing that you're on your way home again

We've been through it all A lot of things girl, You make my heart just skip a beat in so many ways Only you I call until this day girl You make my heart just skip a beat let me count the ways

Nothing's perfect we still have our days But that doesn't mean our love will stray If anything it takes me right back to you Wishes answered from the very start Before hello you have left your mark One so deep I could not remove even if I wanted to

From your warm embrace to how your kisses taste The way you look at me, with such sincerity I feel like every man should feel I pinch myself to see if it's real

The letters you wrote, even the simple notes Just you took your time to say what's on your mind I really couldn't ask for more Oh yea
