

The Thing I'll Miss The Most

Chase Coy

I waited by the willow tree outside your parent's house last night.

Girl, you know I warned you.

Summer's coming soon.

If your gonna make a move, you better make your move.

Cus you know that in a week or two,

I'll be miles away from you

On the California coast.

But you know the thing I'll miss the most is you.

Girl, do you remember the time I held both your hands in mine

And we watched the stars come out that night?

You said your heart could hardly take

The moon's reflection on the glossy lake.

And I just whispered I love you.

Because you know that in a week or two,

I'll be miles away from you

On the California coast.

But you know the thing I miss the most is

If you miss me so much

That you can barely stand it

And your heart can hardly take it

You know I'm never more than a phone call away.

I won't hesitate to answer my phone

When your name shows up on my caller ID.

But you know I can't stay

Because summer is calling me.

Calling me.

But you know that in a week or two

I'll be miles away from you

On the California coast.

But you know the thing I'll miss the most is you.
