Chasing Victory

I don't really understand Why I'm feeling so disappointed with the images inside my head. They enter so undetected. But I'd never hurt a single soul. My pulse is beating even faster when your words speak so bold. I am learning not to speak, yet to listen. I am learning that if I choose to speak at all, speak easy. I'm coming to the conclusion that healing works best throught s ilent bruising. So just be patient for all you're losing. Love is patient, love is kind.