

No Still Means No

Chemical Vocation

Promised the world to you
And swore this would never die
But we fell right back again

You're stealing the air and I can't breathe for the both of us
I gather my thoughts as you say

You promised me we'd get away from this and leave it all behind
You promised me we'd be forever and a day
You can't back down
Don't let me go

Let go
It's time you get this right
I've been down this road to many times
You never wanted this
I never wanted you to
Come right back for more
Feels like you're already here
Feels like I'm losing my mind
It's all the same

As promised the world was yours
I gave up on everything
But that wasn't good enough
The price was too high
And I refuse to pay
I gather my thoughts as you say

You promised me we'll get away from this and leave it all behind
You promised me we'd be forever and a day
You can't back down
Don't let me go

Let go
It's time you get this right
I've been down this road to many times
You never wanted this
I never wanted you to
Come right back for more
Feels like you're already here
Feels like I'm losing my mind
It's all the same
