

The Test Of Time

Chemical Vocation

Take a picture with your mind, frame me off for further thoughts of past and youth.

The city slept while we were awake,
we tried to dream from night away.
We've felt this way before, like that I was something more.
Well, give it a try and we try to not let go.
We take your time, no need to write you.
We celebrate, we celebrate whats left.

Memories will leave us like the summertime.
My life to fill with arms to gain
from moved once summer nights.
But now its all over.

We'll fade away with the sunset,
but only for the night.
We don't need the light to shine,
its all the test of time.

Memories will leave us like the summertime.
My life to fill with arms to gain
from moved once summer nights.
But now its all over.
