

Changed In A Moment

Cherryholmes

I'd taken the wrong road
Weighed down by my own heavy load
I had to make a change, had to lay it down
Now I'm sitting in a church pew
The Word stirs my soul in ways I never knew
Got an invitation
What does it all mean? (Oh)

(Chorus)

It flowed like river right to me
A mighty wind blowing right through me
Baptized like the Day of Pentecost
From dark to light, blind to sight

In a moment my load was taken
The wonder of it left me shaken
There's a blood stained page in the book of my life
I was changed in a moment

Now I'm staring at the altar
I hear a voice sweetly calling to me
Saying, "All you seek is just a few short steps away"
It didn't take long to break my pride

I jumped up and hit my stride
Down on my knees, tears on my praying hands
The angels shouted, "Amen" (Oh)

(Chorus)
