

How Far Will You Go

Cherryholmes

I know a girl who's had too many ups and downs
Says life's a drama and she's a cast-off clown
And I shake my head as she begins to run from everything
She hides from everyone

(chorus 1)

How long will you be able to hide from all the beauty in your life
I wish you could see what I see in your heart
Says if she's broken then it must be her own fault

There are no in betweens, it is or it is not
And I ache to see all the sadness that she wears
It's just a weight she does not need to bear

(chorus)

How long will you be able to hide from all the beauty in your life
I wish you could see what I see in your heart
How far will you go 'til you know who you are?

(bridge)

Why do you cling so desperately to the hurt that you don't need
You can't let go of the fear in your mind, and leave it behind

(tag)

You don't need to worry....if you believe

(chorus)
