

Fairweather Christian

Chesney Hawkes

I heard youre giving up your dreams today
You say youve taken all you can
You swam so far you nearly reached the shore
It seems to easy for you to ignore
How wonderful you are

Just dont give in now
Its too soon to leave the battle
Wasnt it you who said

Whats the use of a fairweather christian
He will run from the rain, into the sunshine
Whats the good of a hesitant hero
Hes afraid of the pain, he is going through
Just like you

When I was ready to give up my dreams
You gave me reason to believe
That all it takes is just a little time
And all youve done for me is just a sign
Of how wonderful you are

You must be strong now
After all youve only stumbled
Wasnt it you who said

Whats the use of a fairweather christian
He will run from the rain, into the sunshine
Whats the good of a hesitant hero
Hes afraid of the pain, he is going through
Just like you
