

Sometimes

Chesney Hawkes

Sometimes love, can really fool you
It can turn your world inside out
Sometimes the sky seems to be falling
Every night, youre not around

So many words that I should have spoken
If I felt then what I feel now
Sometimes a dream has to be over
Just like mine now youre not around

Everybody has to feel the rain, sometimes
You were always shining though the pain in my life

Sometimes you seem so distant
Theres a part of you that wants to be free
Sometimes a flame blows out in an instant
Mine burns on, though youre not around

Everybody has to feel the rain, sometimes
You were always shining though the pain in my life

Sometimes a friend can offer a shoulder
But its way to late for that right now
Sometimes its hard to lose what you live for
And I live for you, but youre not around
