

A Life Of Regrets

Chester See

Time left scars on his soul
The dreams that he chased have all gone away
Now he sits alone
His past follows him close
So much he planned that never began
Now he'll never know

For years he'd been waiting for someone to take him
And tell him it will all be alright
Now he's just waiting around to die

Life started to fade
His memory recalls as the tears start to fall
From the memories not made

And Love, he knew little of
But deep in his eyes are memories he hides
But it's just not enough

For years he'd been waiting for someone to take him
And tell him it will all be alright
Now he's just waiting around to die

For years he'd been waiting for someone to take him
And tell him it will all be alright
Now he's just waiting around
Now he's just waiting around
Now he's just waiting around
To die
