

The Day Has Come

Cheyenne Kimball

I've been down inside waiting around
It really makes you tired letting another year passing by us by
Time goes slow and I don't know why, don't know why
So weak in my head, you hold me back, I wanna fly instead
Don't feel alive might as well be dead, maybe I'm wrong but I don't care why

Outside a world full of strangers
Some I'd really like to know
I wanna stay
But the sign says go

I know the day has come,
I have just begun
No your never ever ever gonna see me try
Your never gonna see me doing anything but what I like

I know the day has come
We have just begun
No your never ever ever gonna see me lie
Your never gonna see me doing anything but what I like

I won't feel the light, sun all a rising, in the nick of time
I'm not sure when I will love
I'm all alone and I don't why,

I wanna raise my voice
I wanna meet the good and bad boys
I want them sweet cuz baby that's my choice
Maybe I'm wrong but I don't care why

Outside a world full of answers,
Some of them I'd really like to know
I wanna stay
But the sign says go

I know the day has come,
I have just begun
No your never ever ever gonna see me try
Your never gonna see me doing anything but what I like

I wanna make some noise
I wanna raise my voice
This is what I like
I wanna make some noise
I wanna raise my voice
But the sign says go

I know the day has come
I know the day has come
I know I know I know

I know the day has come,
I have just begun
No your never ever ever gonna see me try
Your never gonna see me doing anything but what I like