The Day Has Come

Cheyenne Kimball

I've been down inside waiting around It really makes you tired letting another year passing by us by Time goes slow and I don't know why, don't know why So weak in my head, you hold me back, I wanna fly instead Don't feel alive might as well be dead, maybe I'm wrong but I don't care why Outside a world full of strangers Some I'd really like to know I wanna stay But the sign says go I know the day has come, I have just begun No your never ever gonna see me try Your never gonna see me doing anything but what I like I know the day has come We have just begun No your never ever ever gonna see me lie Your never gonna see me doing anything but what I like I won't feel the light, sun all a rising, in the nick of time I'm not sure when I will love I'm all alone and I don?t why, I wanna raise my voice I wanna meet the good and bad boys I want them sweet cuz baby that's my choice Maybe I'm wrong but I don't care why Outside a world full of answers, Some of them I'd really like to know I wanna stay But the sign says go I know the day has come, I have just begun No your never ever ever gonna see me try Your never gonna see me doing anything but what I like I wanna make some noise I wanna raise my voice This is what I like I wanna make some noise I wanna raise my voice But the sign says go I know the day has come I know the day has come I know I know I know I know the day has come, I have just begun No your never ever ever gonna see me try Your never gonna see me doing anything but what I like