Hot streets down below me
All the people moving slowly
As they search each other's faces

For a trace of hope concealed beneath their laughter And it's only love they're after

Mountains lie before me Skies ahead are looking stormy As the highway driver braces

For a race with time to reach a destination In his own imagination

A child of the sky A rider on the wind I can fly

A prisoner of time A dimensional crime Lost am I

Winter stars above me
With a woman who can love me
And moonlight swept embraces

Fill my space with joy and peace
The sweet vibrations of a lover's celebration
