

African And White

China Crisis

Africana, African and white
You're closer than you really ever know
And we all run the risk of
To remain silent
I don't know

We need your faith and hostility
To be certain of a change
And could you ever recover from
Forever recover from this prejudice