

Lovers Are Strangers

Chinawoman

eyes will drift to the sky in time while arms keep holding tight there's a party in full force still the guests can't help but watch the door expressing your uncertainties through years of anniversaries then five years down the line you'll say: she was never my type

lovers are strangers
there's nothing to discuss hearts will be faithful while the truth is told to someone else

when you look off
tell me who you really love fall comes by surprise looking into strange eyes like school kids who are not friends in the streets they are connected huddling in the dark the only number you call magic moments are not lost they'll outlive all your doubts

lovers are strangers
there's nothing to discuss
hearts will be faithful
while the truth is told to someone else

when you look off
tell me who you really love