

Afraid Of Life

Chokehold

Turn on your world sit back and relax all you need is an addiction at your own fingertips
See what they turned you into?
The media covers us in fear telling us we can't compete with the outside world better to stay inside because we have everything you need
Take a look outside and see what they don't want you to see pelted by violent images afraid to live our lives beyond these four walls
Destined to become no more than ratings, never break the grip they have on you
