You think you got me pinned down? You think you know me like the back of your hand? You think I'm that weak that I will fall into your scam? Sell your product by exploiting woman A sales catch for only the blind Targeting peoples addiction Sell a product that eats away at their mind I don't know why you think some people are less humanA nd you use them to make a sale Your sexist and your racist advertisements are becoming very st ale You can't get through, you wont get through, no you'll never ge t through You can't break me Billboards sell the lie Their bottom line is do or die Drink up, and don't forget that your addiction is their paychec Glamorize the poison that theyre trying to sell Make it seem like it's heaven but it's really fucking hell