

Never again will I fall prey to the elements that entrapped me turning my back on the life you keep trying to sell me don't try to tell me it wont last the dedication is undying the fire burns on in our hearts and the fuel is never ending the beliefs I hold I will never fucking hide others will fall and turn to the dark side your weakness makes me stronger and more true to my word I will never break
The edge runs in my blood I will stay true no need for a second chance How could you sell out to a feeling you said was so strong