Jealousy

Chris Caffery

People seem to let me know My little window seems so fogged and cold Children are taught to love and hate In the eye of the night, a tear's embrace Is there really sunshine It's not clear to those who feel pain It's so easy speaking, faceless, taunting, precious Say it, live it, feel it, jealousy

Crosshairs are locked and you load as you mount the attack Half way across the world a stab in your back Every single step that I take you're a humanoid glue And you say, "You're an asshole, you're stuck up, you're prejudice, you fuck ed my girlfriend, ya drunk!!" But listen, at least I'm man enough to be real, oh so real...

It's jealousy
The deadliest sin of them all
Ain't it great, it's jealousy
Don't you get tired of watching it fall behind the 8
It's jealousy, jealousy

Timeshare, a waste of my time, it shouldn't be you The you say, "I think you suck, you're getting old, you're diseased, I hate you, I love you!" But listen, look at my pictures on your wall, your stage and on your TV

It's jealousy The deadliest sin of them all Ain't it great, it's jealousy Don't you get tired of watching it fall behind the 8 Behind the 8, behind my 8 Jealousy

Good old fashion fucking jealousy

But listen, at least I'm man enough to be real, oh so real...

It's jealousy The deadliest sin of them all Ain't it great, it's jealousy Don't you get tired of watching it fall behind the 8 Behind the 8, behind my 8 Jealousy, jealousy

Jealousy, jealousy, jealousy, jealousy, jealousy, jealousy, jealousy
Jealousy, jealous
